

ABOUT ME

Hello! I'm

MARY JO RENNERT
GREMLING

Founder of Bestwine Press, I help thought leaders and aspiring authors widen their audience, increase their impact, and fulfill their God-given mission by taking the pain and fear out of publishing the books they know they're called to write.

I insist that being self-published does not mean being amateurish. I believe your book represents you, and it should be a true reflection of the image you want to convey: professional, credible, sincere, relatable, with a clear, easy-to-understand message and compelling content that draws your readers in and makes them hungry for more.

With my extensive professional publishing experience and expertise as a writer, editor, art director, and designer, I promise to provide the guidance and resources you need to write and publish a book that meets those criteria.
